There are few bands or music groups that stand the test of time, especially those founded in the 21st century. From Fifth Harmony to One Direction, both groups of boys and girls aren't really tall. Unless you're talking about Little Mix. The British girl group won The X-Factor in the UK in 2011 and was the first girl group ever to do so in the British version of the show. They've been making shots ever since, but they're not as big in The Americans yet. To really convince why Little Mix should be a hit, here are seven videos to show. It's also a good introduction for them if you've never heard their music. 1. Wasabi Like many songs these days, Wasabi saw some popularity in Tik Tok last summer, but that's why this song doesn't have to be on your radar. It's such a bop with several levels for singing. It has rhythmic, staccato skeins and then a smoother, more sensual chorus. It's a song that's great for working out, dancing or a great hype-up song. As one of the top commentators said: Whenever I listen to Little Mix, I become a damn confident queen, then the song ends and I come back as a little potato :)
2. Black Magic One of Little Mix's first hits and songs in general, Black Magic tells the fantastic story of wanting to use a love drink on a guy to finally make them notice you. Although, of course, it's just a fantasy, the music video is so worth it. Four members play a nerdy or awkward girl who has a huge crush on this one guy. They grab a magic book and start sabotaging a mean girl and helping other less popular kids at their school. It's fun and really a sign of their massive platform.
3. Love Me Like You Retro-inspired song Love Me Like You brings to mind the sockhop jam of the 1950s. It is slower and perfectly emphasizes their voice. It also has that great 50s concept where you miss and miss a guy who seems to be one kind of guy. However, the 2015 video shows that maybe some guys are too good to be good. No matter how you take that meaning, it's a fun song that will make you feel happy, bright.
4. Think of us as Ft. Ty Dolla $ign Think of us is basically about being so excited about someone that when you think about them (which is a lot), you can't help but wonder or hope they do the same. Whether it's at the beginning of a relationship or nearing the end, it's definitely a concern or an idea that someone could have. The song itself is also a really, really good vibe. Rhythm can be for dancing or just a nice background pulse when it's needed.
5. Woman We Ft. Nicki Minaj Little Mix has always had a clear message of empowerment in the background or sometimes. Woman Like Me, one of their new songs, basically says they are strong, strong. Sometimes you don't act like a good woman should. But they like a man and wonder if they can deal with them? There's Also Nicki Minaj here and it's such a good song that makes you feel powerful.
6. Reggaeton Lento CNCO duet Originally Reggaeton Flight was entirely in Spanish as it was a single by Latin American boy band CNCO. Little Mix jumped on the remix, and it's such a good song. It's definitely a different style of music that they usually do, but they perform it perfectly. There are still parts in the Spanish parts, and it's perfect to dance.
7. Shout Out to My Ex Okay, time to say it up with one of Little Mix's best and biggest songs. It's the ultimate breakup song. It doesn't play down the ex as such, it cheers up the girls. They thank their former for making them what they are now, teaching them and also being out of their lives now. It's like Thank You U, Next, but obviously years earlier. It's also about Zayn Malik, who broke up with Little Mix member Perrie Edwards via text message. It's the perfect song to shout the lyrics, even if you don't have an ex. Photo: Paramount Pictures / Allan Carr Productions / Robert Stigwood Organization / Polydor Records Hills are alive ... the sound of movie musicals! From old-school favorites like Singin' in the Rain and West Side Story to modern classics like Chicago and High School Musical, there's no shortage of toe-tapping movies to enjoy when you're in the mood for cinematic singing and dancing. It all started with a 1927 film called Jazz Singer, which was the first full-length film set in music. By the 1930s, musicals were ten cents. In 1939, a small film called The Wizard of Oz was released, which catalysed 16-year-old Judy Garland to superstardom and cemented her legacy as a film musical queen. The genre has only continued to grow ever since, staining the classic after the classic and winning an avalanche of Oscars along the way. Julie Andrews dominated the '60s with hits such as Mary Poppins and The Sound of Music, while the end of the decade and the '70s benefited from Bob Fosse's innovative choreography — Sweet Charity and Cabaret. And while Disney praised the genre with animated movies in the '90s, the 00s and 10s saw live-action movie musicals return with hits like Mamma Mia! and La La Land. From the extremetech book Audio Mashup Construction Kit.Sony's ACID allows you to combine musical sounds into mashup for your own creation, and the program is free to download as an Express version and Pro version. Once you get to the point where one of your mashups sounds great when you come out of your computer, you'll probably want to share your masterpiece. To do this, you need to convert it to an audio file, usually in CD or MP3 format. CDs have good sound quality, but because they are tied to a physical medium, they depend on physical distributions. MP3s, on the other hand, are easily beamed through the magical Internet, but the smaller and more transportable they are, the more the sound quality suffers. Often mashup producers make both shapes and use them under different conditions. Converting to an audio file from ACID is simple. On the File menu, click Render As to display a window asking which file name and type you want to save. The file name is up to you, and there are several file types to choose from on ACID XPress: MP3: The most popular and supported audio compression format. ACID XPress only allows 20 MP3 encodes, while ACID Pro offers unlimited codes. RM: RealNetworks RealMedia; its own sound compression format. WMA: Microsoft Windows Media; its own sound compression format. ACID Pro:THE FOLLOWING formats are available in ACID Pro:PCA:Perfect Clarity Audio; your own sound lossless compression format. WAV: Microsoft/IBM's WAVEform Audio; uncompressed audio format. AA3: Sony's its own sound compression format. AC3: Dolby Digital, a popular audio format on DVDs. AIF (also known as AIFF): Audio Interchange File Format; An uncompressed format developed by Apple, but not its own. OGG: Patent sound compression format. W64: Sony's WAVE64; patented Uncompressed Audio Format designed to create very large audio files. Video formats: ACID Pro supports various video formats that are exported. These do not apply to sound projects, but include MOV, AVI, WMV and MPG. While there are many competing compression algorithms, MP3 is by far the most popular. WAV is the most common version for uncompressed audio format in Windows. While many people claim that OGG is better than MP3 when it comes to audio quality, its lack of popularity makes it a bad choice to share with others. If you render for MP3, you can guarantee that almost anyone can listen to the file, and if you give to WAV, you can guarantee that any software that records a CD will be able to make it a CD track. After you select a file type, you can select a template that is a parameter set for the file type, or you can manually set up parameters by clicking Custom. The data for these variables are discussed in the following sections. Continued... Continued...
